Arne Parish

Arne is a rural parish with about 1,370 citizens in settlements from Worgret in the west to Arne hamlet in the east and Furzebrook Road to the south, with most people in villages at Ridge & Stoborough. Apart from a small proportion of mudflat and water to the east, the 29km² of the Parish is about half used for farming with a fifth heathland and a fifth woodland.

Major roads run west from Wareham towards Dorchester in the north of the parish, and south towards Swanage, with railway links also to these towns. The River Frome flows across the Parish through extensive water-meadows. The rich land-use makes Arne Parish an important part of the 10km square that has the most plant species in Britain, so nature conservation and tourism are important local interests, joining clay-mining in generating local jobs.

Arne Parish Survey and Plan

In 2010, Arne Parish Council asked all households to complete a survey for a Parish Plan which was ready in 2011. The survey showed an increasing proportion of citizens working from home. It also set a European standard for community participation in mapping wildlife and habitats. Please click on our Parish Plan 2010 to have a look. This evolved from an earlier Parish Plan 2003.

Neighbourhood Plan

A new Neighbourhood Plan is now underway which will give all Arne Residents a chance to have their say in the development of the Parish. A Steering Group has just been set up and progress and requests for help and information will be posted on the adjacent tab, so please watch that space!

(NB. Minutes can be found in 'Documents' tab above)

Hello From Tanglewood!

If you are interested in nature, Tanglewood is a perfect base. Within a rich local landscape, with reserves of RSPB, Natural England, the National Trust and Dorset Wildlife Trust, we run conservation websites from international level (for IUCN, in most European languages) to local communities. Our Arne Parish pioneers such sites.
